of Heber M. Welts, expressing the belief that the Governor would make an ideal Senator, but he said simphatically that there is not the least chance for him at the hands of the Legislature office of Senator," he declared, "and that h Hon. George Sutherland. Should anyone attempt to go up against him he would soon discover his mistake. Everything points to his election, and he will undoubtedly be Ulan's next Semator.

Mr Roberts is an out and out Smeet man, having been committed to the Senator's interests two years ago, and voting for him at the time of his election. He is strengty of opinion that the aposite will not only be sole to retain his seat in the Senate, but also that he will be able to vindicate himself because the Representative Roberts had considerable to retain his seat in the Senate, but also that he will be able to vindicate himself because the proposed Mahler Interurban Electric railway to be built from Payson to Logan 16 is agragate of the stocess of the project, stating that the promofers are not only in carnest, but will certainly construct the fee miles between these two objective points exit a trolley line. The prospect of right-of-way in both Orden and Salt Lake is very encouraging according to Mr. Roberts. Mr. Mahler having returned from the East and being now bears securing these franchises.

Mr. Roberts is busy franting a bill, which he proposes to submit to the Legislature for the construction of good roads throughout the State. In this and other interests he took the train this morning for Salt Lake.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES' ACTION STIRS UP A MUDDLE

AMERICAN FORK, Utah, Dec. 27.-in regard to the action of the Alpine district school trustees wherein they informed the presidency of the religious classes that the school-houses would not be allowed for their use In holding their daily religious classes, con-siderable comment has been heard. It is an angleus moment for some to know just what will be the verdict of the school trustees of this place, although it is not expected, by parsons who profess to know, that they will follow the example of Alpine, although they are in receipt of a letter from State Super are in receipt of a letter from State Super-intendent Nelson, advising them to refrain from allowing the continuance of the use of the school buildings as a place for holding religious classes. The feeling in Alpine is about eventy divided in regard to the trustees action. Some are radical and state that the section is no more use less than a channe for one faction to get even with the other for the smult; which gross over the lawsuit wherein they insisted on using the school huilding for dancing.

The more conservative are heartily indocsing the trustees' action, and declare that it is a thing which should have received attention long ago.

KEEP PUBLIC SCHOOLS FREE

EXPLODES AT OGDEN NO Place for Religious Teaching.

Constitution Provides for Absolute Separation of Church and State.

Christian Institution Which Gives Every Child Equal Opportunity in Race of Life.

[New York Journal] Two men discussed the public school question last Sunday One of them was Hourke Cockran, the ther President Schueman, of Cornell other President Schuman, of Cornell oniversity.

Mr Cockran called the public schools "agnostic and unchristian.

Is a cooking school without religion as part of the course agnostic and unchristian?

Is a gymnision unchristian because the people do not have prayers or religious instruction between somerscules.

Is there any reason—any intelligent reason—why the millie money should not teach the child the multiplication table, the alphabet, spelling, and laws of health, apart from religious instruction?

Nobody insists on religion being taught at dancing schools, in a school for civil engineers, or a business college.

No sensible man or newspaper would for a moment undervalue the importance of moral and religious teaching. To every stimate their importance would be impossible But.

The eighty millions of people in the united States all egree that twice two make four.

make four.
They DON'T AGREE at all on religious

They DON'T AGREE at all on religious questions.

Certainly, to compel parents to send their children to a public school where they would be taught religieus beliefs contrary to those of the parents would be a great injustice.

The Constitution of the United States and the settled laws of the United States dispose of the matter through absoluty separation of church and state.

Hourke Cockran objects to the American public school system because it was not included in the teachings on the shores of Gaillee!

The Constitution of the United States was not included in the teachings on the shores of Gaillee either, yet at governs this country.

The American public school, giving to ach child equal opportunity with every ther, is essentially a Christian institu-other, is essentially a Christian institu-tion.

If you feed a child's BODY, giving it food and clothing, you carry out the or-ders of Christ-even though you may feed and clothe the child without any re-ligious utterance whatever.

And the public school, which feeds the child's MIND, earnies out the orders of Christ, although in obedience to the law of the land the public school does not discriminate between the various re-ligious beliefs, or leach any of them.

It is true that in New York city Mr. Great the Comptroller, who is constantly cutting down the public school appropriations. SINDS HIS OWN CHILDREN TO THE PRIVATE SCHOOL.

President Schurman, who replied to My-Csckran, began with the statement that His is now sending FOUR OF HIS OWN CHIL-DREN TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS and intends to OREN TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS, and intends to send others.

Suppose the State should be correct him in-troducing religion into the public schools.
WHAT collision would be adopted?
The majority of the inhabitants of the country are nominally Protestarts. But could there be any greater outrage than to compel Catholic or Jewish children, or the children of agnostics, to go to a public school teaching the Protestant re-ligion?

ligion?

Is it not infinitely more fair to let the public schools deal with facts that are accepted by all of the people-letting the home and church and the Sanday-school deal with religious questions to suit the public school in which I have no children. I demand that the nublic money be spent to support the private school to which I send my child."

The effort which Mr. Cockran represents is to have the State contribute money to the schools that are now private schools. He represents the chizen who says: "I don't send my child to the public school. And I don't want to be taxed for the public school in which I have no children. I demand that the nublic money be seent to support the private school.

President Schurman of Cornell suswared that argument sufficiently, as follows:

If you don't want to pay taxes for the support of the public schools, why not object to being taxed for the support of the central to the public schools, why not object to suit you? The State gies alread in its secular work, and, it you shoose, set up your rival institutions, but neither directly now indirectly will the State contribute to their support.

The results of our system of secular instruction challenge the admiration of the world, and we do that propose to adopt any retrograde methods.

world, and we do not propose to adopt any retrograde methods. The backetor, with no children, migot as well say. If you tax me to support the public schools where my neighbors children are educated, I want public money to pay for my club where I amuse myself at right. Or the rich man might way. I have in the country a private park where my children play. I consider them too good to play in the city's parks with common children. I don't want to my taxes to keep up the city parks—or. If I am taxed for them, I want Government money to be paid on my private park.

the public school is one of the mobiest influences existing in the world. It makes real Americans It teaches children the fundamental principles of a republic that success and advancement should and must depend on one's own efforts.

Attacks upon public schools such as Mr. Cockrains do no norm to the public schools themselves. The public schools are as safely introduced as our republican form of government. There are those among us who declare republican rovernment to be a failure-but that does not perceptibly weaken the Government.

Mr. Cockrains attack is calculated to sake up religious discussion and RE-LIGIOUS ANTAGONISM needlersty. In this country, where all men are agreed to tolerate and respect one another's religious beliefs, there can be no greater evil than attenting up religious discussion.

This country must remain what it is
